

Bible school Essay

A verse that impacted my life is, James 1:19 "Everyone should be quick to listen, slow to speak, and slow to anger." Because one day when I was sitting at the table, I had my rubiks cube also on the table. Out of nowhere my brother takes my rubiks cube without asking! Then I started running after him in anger. I was yelling and screaming "Hey give that back right now!" I was so mad at him because my pet peeve is when people take my stuff without asking, especially if they lose my stuff.

What I did wrong in this situation is, I didn't think before I acted. Like I should have thought about "Well it's just a rubiks cube it's not like it's something important." Also I got really mad at the most littlest thing. Like it's not like my brother broke my rubiks cube. Lastly maybe my brother took my rubiks cube because he wanted attention maybe, I was a kid and being sister and I wouldn't spend that much time with him.

What I would do differently in this situation next time is, first I would ask myself is this worth getting mad at. Then I would say the verse James 1:19 over and over. But if that doesn't help I should ask God to give me patience and for him to give me forgiveness so I could forgive people. Also in the future instead of yelling I should say nicely "Hey Benji can I please have my rubiks cube back?" Then I should take the time and have quality time with my brother. This is the verse that impacted my life.
